

Prayer and Praise Update

May, 2020

Dear Praying Friends,

Greetings again from Tucson!

As we move into the summer months, the temperatures are rising in the desert. It's been a long time since I was here at this time of year. I had hoped to be in Wisconsin at this time, preparing for my summer travels. Unfortunately, that did not happen—yet. I am still hoping to get in some traveling, but it will probably be later in the summer. Fortunately, things are looking more positive in some of the places that I want to go, but not all. So if I do get to travel, it will probably be an abbreviated trip.

Meanwhile, I do have some good news. A church which had expressed interest in the work of Bible translation in Brazil has decided to support me financially. This is a huge step toward being able to return to the field at the end of this year. Praise the LORD!

Churches are beginning to meet again here in Tucson. I will be returning to my home church on Pentecost Sunday, and the following week I will visit the new supporting church and be presented to the congregation.

I have also been working on some personal projects, and providing remote support as needed for ALEM and SIL down in Brazil.

So please give thanks:

- For the church here in Tucson that has decided to become a part of my ministry team.
- That churches are finally beginning to meet again.
- For being able to work on some personal projects.

Please pray:

- For clarity regarding summer travels; when and where.
- For ALEM, as they go through changes in leadership.

Waiting to see what the rest of furlough brings...
